- Introductions:
 - The game is played in groups of 4–5 people.
 - Each group receives a board game set and plays together as a group using a single game piece.
 - In each round, the game piece moves one space forward.
 - There are three different types of spaces:
 1. Knowledge spaces: The group draws a knowledge card and works together to find the answer. The answer on the knowledge card is then read aloud.
 2. Gift spaces: The group draws a gift card and reads the text aloud.
 3. Action spaces: The group draws the numbered action card corresponding to the space.
The card contains text referring to a corresponding envelope. After the task on the action card has been read aloud, the group opens the corresponding envelope.
Each envelope contains a task or action that must be completed.
Once this is done, the solution on the action card may be read aloud.
 4. If a group finishes the game before the allotted time, they may open the “bonus envelope” and discuss the question inside.
